REASON FOR PLANTING

Two regions of Germany are the focus of this reforestation effort. The first is a former Murray pine forest that will be restored using a mixture of European larch and Champion oak. The second is a former spruce plantation destroyed by bark beetle that will be planted with Douglasfir. Both plantings will provide important future carbon mitigation.

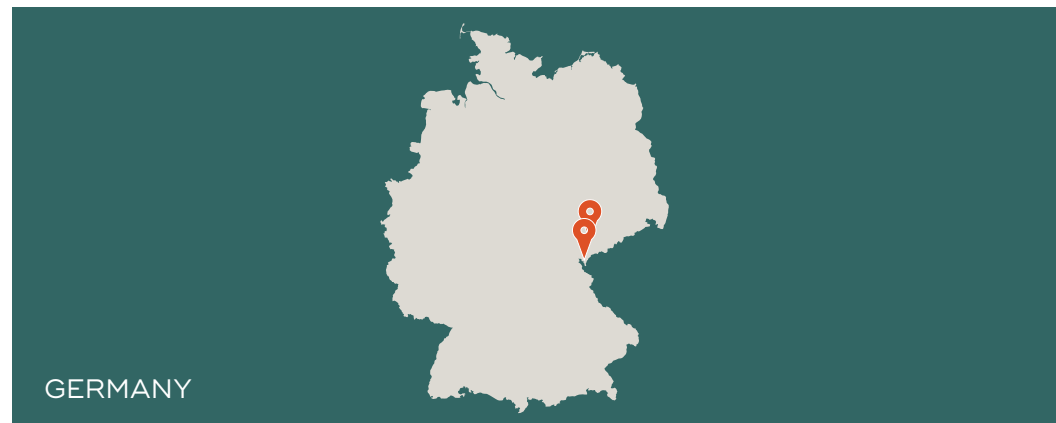

Reestablishing forest cover in two areas of Germany

Providing habitat for area wildlife

Creating the ability for future carbon mitigation to slow the rate of climate change
