

Philanthropy has been part of Jack Taylor's vision for Enterprise since the beginning.

In 1982, this commitment was formalized with the creation of the Enterprise Holdings Foundation. Through a variety of initiatives and programs, this philanthropic giving arm allows the organization to better support communities across the globe.

Philanthropic Initiatives

Ongoing philanthropic programs are the cornerstones of our charitable work. These programs represent an ongoing commitment by Enterprise Holdings in key areas of outreach.

$60 million over 10 years

Improving the health of rivers for communities, Routes and Roots supports The Nature Conservancy's efforts for protection, restoration and sustainable management of rivers and other freshwater ecosystems in North America, Europe and around the world.

$55 million over 5 years

The ROAD Forward initiative, which empowers employees to identify the most pressing issues in their communities, was designed to support organizations that advance social and racial equity. Its primary focus is on early childhood development, youth health & wellness and career & college preparation.

$115 million over 10 years

Food insecurity exists everywhere. Enterprise Holdings is fighting to change that by investing in domestic and international hunger-relief programs that help even the most vulnerable populations.

$9 million over 9 years

The Fisher House Foundation provides no-cost lodging to military and veteran families receiving treatment at military medical centers. It also supports a special Heroes' Legacy Scholarship for the children of those who died or have become 100% disabled through active military service since Sept. 11, 2001.

50 million trees over 50 years

Established to honor Enterprise's 50th anniversary, the 50 Million Tree Pledge is a partnership with the Arbor Day Foundation to restore and reforest ecosystems in forests of greatest need. The initiative will plant 50 million trees by 2056 throughout the United States, United Kingdom, Ireland, Canada, France, Germany and Spain.

$1 million annually

To ensure the Red Cross is always ready to act, we provide ongoing support for Disaster Relief and International Services. This funding helps enable the organization to respond immediately to those affected by domestic and international disasters of all sizes.
